Sensory profile: Generous and intense to the eye, its straw yellow displays an almost playful duet of pastels and shimmering gold that heighten its effect. The aromatic impact commences with gloriously-ripe fruit that quickly yields pride of place to fragrant effusions of apricot, plum, nectarine, pear, flanked by more exotic suggestions of white-fleshed melon and veritable gusts of pineapple. More aeration delivers dried fruits and nuts, almond and cashew, and spiritous essences such as tequila and amaretto, and finally sweet spices: nutmeg and saffron. Upon entering the salon of flavours, we are enfolded in a warm, minerally embrace enlivened by tangy bursts of rich fruit. The grip is decisive, raspy even, as befits a strong-charactered wine that is born to partner with dishes that are complex, fat-rich, and ultra-sapid.

Pairings: its fruit too will re-emerge on the palate when it encounters preparations that are succulent and spice-rich, even meats. It loves above all fish and vegetables au gratin, such as gratin dauphinois.
